Patsy Massey Is Gallon Blood Donor

Patsy Massey, RCT and an employee at the Murray-Calloway County Hospital and Convalescent Division, became the third gallon blood donor in the two-year history of the Murray-Calloway County Hospital Volunteer Blood Bank.

Ms. Massey donated her eighth unit of blood earlier this month, and was presented with a certificate of appreciation from the American Association of Blood Banks in recognition of her total gallon donation.

The blood donated by Ms. Massey was designated primarily as replacement blood for relatives or specific hospital patients.

The Murray-Calloway County Hospital, in cooperation with the Murray Lions Club and the entire community have participated in an all-volunteer blood bank since October, 1974. Approximately 2,000 persons are now enrolled in the blood donor program.

Donors may participate as a member of a donor group or on an individual basis. In either case, the donor is assured that he and his family will be covered by a blood protection program. The volunteer blood bank program assures the community of a steady source of blood from known and reliable donors. Another asset of the blood bank is the file of donors which can be called upon for blood in emergency situations.

To participate in the program and receive blood coverage on an individual basis, a person needs only to donate blood once a year. However, blood banks depend to a large degree on donors who are willing to give to meet day-to-day blood needs.

The donor files contain members who donate on a regular basis. Several of these donors are approaching the one-gallon donation level.

"To be sure that blood will be there when you need it, we encourage everyone to become a voluntary blood donor. Please support your local blood bank by coming to the laboratory of the hospital and giving blood," encouraged gallon-donor Ms. Massey.

"The blood bank can give you more information and answer any questions about donating blood," she added.

Any individual or group interested in the blood donor program is encouraged to contact the Murray Calloway County Hospital Blood Bank at 753-5131 extension 370.

LOCAL MAN DIES IN FIRE—Hester Thomas Kendall, 87, of Murray Route Five, died Monday of injuries received when his home was destroyed by fire. The Kendall home was located near Cherry Corner. Staff Photo by David Hill

Burns Fatal To Local Man On Monday

A Calloway County man was burned to death in a fire at his home Monday morning, according to the Calloway County Coroner's office.

Hester Thomas Kendall, Route Five, was pronounced dead at the scene after his home near Cherry Corner burned at noon Monday. The house was already nearly on the ground when volunteers of the Calloway County Fire-Rescue Unit received the call.

Mr. Kendall was 87 years of age and a resident of Murray Route Five. He was a retired farmer and a member of the Primitive Baptist Church. Born August 21, 1889, in Graves County, he was the son of the late Thomas Kendall and Nannie Eldridge Kendall.

Survivors are three daughters, Mrs. Lloyd (Margaret) Sills, Murray Route Eight, Mrs. R. L. (Martha) Dowdy, Murray Route Five, and Mrs. Don (Katherine) Anderson, Payson, Arizona; three sons, Carl Kendall, Indianapolis, Ind., David Kendall, Aviston, Ill., and Fred Kendall, Minneapolis, Minn.; a daughter-in-law, Mrs. R. G. Kendall, Murray Route Two; one sister, Mrs. Sloma Alton, Dexter, Mo.; twenty-seven grandchildren; several great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at one p. m. at the chapel of the Max Churchill Funeral Home with the Rev. R. J. Burpoe officiating. Grandsons will serve as pallbearers and burial will be in the Day Cemetery in Graves County.

Friends may call at the funeral home.

Local Girl To Be In National Pageant

Miss Kathy Sue Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Jackson, Route Seven, will represent Kentucky in the Miss Teenage America Contest to be held in Washington, D. C. Dec. 28-30.

Miss Jackson, who won the title of Miss Kentucky United Teenager on September 18 in Lexington, will compete on the national level for a $5,000 scholarship, $2,000 wardrobe, the use of an automobile for one year, $1,000 in personal appearance money, a trip to Europe, and a silver service.

Contributions are needed for Miss Jackson's expenses for the trip to Washington. Donations may be made by contacting Art Jewell.

Local Shriners Deliver Garments To Hospital

Members of the local Shrine Club report having delivered to the Shrine Hospital for Crippled Children in St. Louis, Mo., two boxes containing more than forty garments for use by the children who are patients there. Gowns, pajamas, robes, etc., were included among the articles taken to St. Louis by members of the club last week.

The wives of local Shriners hold monthly sewing days to work for the hospital and will meet again on the third Tuesday in January.

The St. Louis Hospital is one of twenty-two operated by the 180 Shrine Temple in the United States, with an average of 60 resident patients. The annual operational cost amounts to $35 million, and since the first hospital was founded in 1922, 183,000 children have been treated, without regard to race, color, or creed. The only qualification is the inability of parents to care for the treatment.

John L. Williams, of Murray, is a member of the governing board of the St. Louis Hospital and may be contacted in case of need.

The Murray Shrine Club is one of 2500 clubs attached to the various Shrine temples. Each year the Shrine Golf Tournament is held to help support the hospital cause.

Murray Shriners and their wives will hold their annual Christmas dinner party on Saturday, December 18, at the Woodmen of the World Hall.

Local Used Car Dealers Investigated By FBI

The Federal Bureau of Investigation is conducting an investigation into the used car business in Murray, to determine if any federal violations exist, according to the FBI public information officer.

Investigators were in Murray Monday to subpoena records of several used car dealers here, and an investigation will be continued, the officer said.

Alcoholism Conference Scheduled

A conference entitled "Assessment of Community Roles and Needs in Alcoholism and Alcohol Abuse," will be held this Friday in Room 206 of Roy Stewart Stadium according to Prof. Frank Kodman, co-chairman.

Kodman, who is co-chairman of the event along with Prof. James Overbey, said the conference, which is sponsored by Murray State University, is open to the public. The conference will be held from 1:30 p. m. to 4:30 p. m. Friday. Kodman said. At 6 p. m. the group will reconvene to draw up recommendations for the West Kentucky area.

Approximately 25 disciplines will send representatives to the meeting and each speaker will talk for 10 to 15 minutes, Kodman said.

Among those disciplines represented will be sociology, anthropology, psychology, clergy, industry, vocational rehabilitation, mental health, medicine, organized labor, insurance, military, bar association, nursing, education, recreation, public welfare, business management, the courts and counseling.

Puppet Show To Be Presented At Library

Richard Valentine, a professional actor and puppeteer from Lexington, will present a Christmas puppet show for all ages at the Calloway County Public Library tonight at seven p. m.

The Richard Valentine Puppets offer a wide variety of stories based on an old-style of theatre where there is no script. "What you will see on the stage is unrehearsed — though it is not unprepared — and the stories are often created and re-created before your eyes," a spokesman stated.

Rudolph the Red Nosed Reindeer is one of the puppets that will be featured in the presentation along with a talking Christmas Tree and other favorite characters some children will be familiar with, such as Skunk and Rat. Richard Valentine Puppets were presented at a children's story hour at the library in October.

Valentine has toured the state with his puppet theatre and has been affiliated with WKYT-TV in Lexington the past four and a half years. At present some of his shows may be viewed over Cable 11 MSU TV station.

Some critics have offered these comments about The Richard Valentine Puppets:

— "What makes Valentine's presentation on the little puppet stage different from most is the audience involvement — the trademark of The Richard Valentine Puppets." — The Lexington Herald

— "Because the audience is an internal part of the play — a separate character as it were — every performance is different. Valentine sets the stage for the action and the children decide the final outcome. Youngsters love it." — The Lexington Leader

Recipe Shower At Russell Home Held For Miss Kathy Rogers, Bride-elect

Another delightful courtesy extended to Miss Kathy Rogers, bride-elect of Bill Wilson, was the recipe shower held in the home of Mrs. Eugene Russell, 915 Waldrop Drive, on Tuesday, November 30, at 7:30 p. m.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Russell, Mrs. Terry Hannah, Mrs. Karl Hussung, Mrs. William C. Adams, Sr., and Mrs. Charles Outland.

Games were played after which the honoree opened her gifts for the guests to view.

Each guest brought her favorite recipe to the bride-elect. The hostesses presented her with a recipe file.

A corsage of bronze mums was presented the bride-elect who was wearing a black and white pant ensemble. Her mother, Mrs. James Rogers, was presented a corsage of white carnations.

Refreshments of assorted cookies, Cokes, and coffee were served from a beautifully appointed table centered with an autumn arrangement of dried flowers.

Kitty Ray Keaton Is Guest Speaker For Elm Grove Baptist Church Meet

The Baptist Women of the Elm Grove Baptist Church met at the church on Monday, November 22, at 8:30 p. m. for a potluck dinner with husbands as guests.

Special speaker for the evening was Mrs. Kitty Ray

Keaton who with her husband were missionaries to Spain. She gave a very interesting talk about their work there.

Bobbie Burkeen and Juanita Lee presented special music. Aubrey Cook led the group in singing "Joy To The World." June Crider, mission support chairman, was in charge of the program which closed with the group singing "Bless Be The Tie."

The table was beautifully decorated by Lavine Carter and June Crider, using the Thanksgiving theme of the horn of plenty with fruits, nuts, and candles. Charles Burkeen gave the blessing before the meal.

Twenty-two members and guests were present.

To Be Honored

Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Burkeen

Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Burkeen of Dexter Route One will be honored on Sunday, December 19, with an open house in celebration of their thirty-fifth wedding anniversary.

All friends and relatives are invited to call between the hours of two to four p. m. at the Burkeen home on Dexter Route One, Highway 1346, east of Dexter.

Hosts and hostesses for the event are their children, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene (Lola) Dick, Mr. and Mrs. James (Shelda) Keeling, and Andy Burkeen, all of Dexter Route One.

Their five grandchildren are Grant and Randall Dick and Mike, Jayna, and Billy Keeling.

The couple was married on December 20 at Charleston, Mo., with their attendants being Mrs. Alma Lee Williams Adams and the late Roy Jones.

Mrs. Burkeen is the former Nell Jones, daughter of the late Pearl and Fannie Brown Jones of Marshall County. Mr. Burkeen is the son of the late Jim and Olive Chadwick Burkeen of Calloway County.

Mr. Burkeen is a farmer and has been employed by the Murray Division of the Tappan Company since 1946. They are members of the Brooks Chapel United Methodist Church.

Oak Grove WMU Holds Program

Mrs. Sherry Paschall was hostess for the November meeting of the WMU of the Oak Grove Baptist Church held at her home with the lesson being on "Healing In The Middle East."

The Bible study on "Messengers For The Mission" was taken from the ninth and tenth chapters of Matthew and from Luke 9:46 and 10:20. Pauline Story gave the call to prayer and Sherry Paschall led in prayer for missionaries having birthdays on the same day.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Paschall to Hilda Evitts, Delpha Taylor, Pauline Story, Youlanda Grooms, and Freda Humphreys. Fruit plates were prepared for the senior members of the church.

Reception On Sunday For Mr., Mrs. Roberts

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Roberts, Jr., will celebrate their silver wedding anniversary with a reception to be held on Sunday, December 19, in their home at 1706 Farmer Avenue, Murray.

All relatives and friends are invited to attend the reception from two to four p. m. on Sunday.

The couple was married December 22, 1951, in Murray by the Rev. Harold E. Lassiter. Their attendants were Mary Roberts and Wade Roberts.

Mrs. Roberts is the former Sue Mohundro, daughter of E. C. Mohundro and the late Dora Overcast Mohundro. Mr. Roberts is the son of the late John D. Roberts and Lela Boatwright Roberts.

They have one daughter, Miss Vicki Roberts, a student at Murray State University, and one son, David Roberts, a student at Murray High School.

Christmas Gift—Or Tax Deduction?

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1976 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd.

DEAR ABBY: Tell me if I'm wrong, but I do not appreciate receiving a card at Christmas time informing me that a gift in my name has been sent to the starving children of Bangladesh, the earthquake victims of Guatemala, or a handicapped war veteran.

I personally donate to many worthy causes, but I also send my friends and relatives Christmas gifts and cards. When I get one of these "a-gift-in-your-name" certificates, I feel that I am being used as a tax deduction, which is no gift at all. Care to comment?

USED IN DURHAM, N.C.

DEAR USED: I disagree. In my opinion, one of the more civilized practices of recent years is donating to charity instead of giving extravagant gifts to those who already have more than they need. Knowing that a starving child, an earthquake victim or a handicapped war veteran had received help in my name would be gift enough for me.

DEAR ABBY: How would you handle the following problem if you were "Boy C"?

Boy A took a new school book (school property, too) loaned to Boy B and defaced it terribly. Boy B was not around when this happened, and the only one who saw him do it was Boy C.

Should Boy C tell the teacher what he saw?

WORRIED SICK

DEAR WORRIED: On the principle that every citizen has a duty to report a crime of which he has knowledge, Boy C should reveal who defaced the book belonging to Boy B. In so doing, however, Boy C is justified in asking for anonymity. Otherwise, in today's climate of violence, an act of good citizenship could become an epitaph.

DEAR ABBY: Although I have a full-time job, take care of our home and three children, I still find time to make all my own clothes. I am very proud of my sewing ability, and I certainly save a lot of money.

I receive many compliments on my clothes, and when I tell people I make them, they appear to be amazed. Most say they thought I buy them at one of the most expensive stores in town.

My husband tells me I am wrong to tell people I make my own clothes. He says I should let them think I paid a high price for them.

I think being able to make things that can pass for store-bought merchandise is something to be proud of. I welcome your opinion as well as those who have been through this kind of controversy.

CAROLINA CONTROVERSY

DEAR CONTRA: The choice is between your husband's false pride and yours, which is earned. I vote for the latter.

Remove mildew spots as soon as they are discovered. Don't give the mold growth a chance to weaken or rot the material. Brush off any surface growth outdoors to prevent scattering the mildew spores in the house. Sun and air fabrics thoroughly. If any mildew spots remain, treat washable articles as described below. Dry clean nonwashable articles. Wash mildew-stained articles at once with soap or detergent and water. Rinse well and dry in the sun. If any stain remains, bleach with lemon juice and salt or use a bleach. Test colored fabrics for colorfastness to the bleach. — Maxine Griffin, Clinton.

Almost everyone in the modern world of today faces stress and strain of major proportions. Everyone is aware of the varying degrees of tension within himself and if he is alert to the world about him, he is certainly aware of the many tensions that surround all of us. This stress and strain can seriously affect our mental well-being. We know that anyone under a great amount of pressure continued for a long period of time can be overwhelmed and bend. All of us have a "breaking point." The details of tension may be different, but the central theme is the same: rush, change, conflict, pressure, frustration, complications, uncertainty. — Sue Fraser, Bardwell.

USE THE THREAD

CORRECTLY In general, use the same thread in the needle and in the bobbin. Different threads make stitch balance and correct tension difficult to achieve. For topstitching, however, a different thread such as buttonhole twist may be used in the needle or in the bobbin. Thread the machine correctly, following the sewing machine manual. Wind the bobbin correctly, following the sewing machine manual. Use an empty bobbin so thread will wind evenly and check to be sure the thread comes off the bobbin in the proper direction. For large projects, wind several bobbins before you start. Cut, never break, the thread on a slant for easy threading. — Jean Clout, Murray.

FOR WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 15, 1976

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth sign.

ARIES

(Mar. 21 to Apr. 20) Be patient if temporarily stymied in some project in which you are involved. New factors seem to be up for consideration. Keep eyes and ears open.

TAURUS

(Apr. 21 to May 21) Do not dash headlong into activities no matter how much is expected of you or how much you wish to accomplish. There are "gray" areas to study well.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21) Don't wait too long before making up your mind in matters where the time element is important. Highly favored: intellectual pursuits, travel and communications.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23) Some influences are friendly; others not. The latter could lead you into careless thinking and action if you are not on guard. Give thought to past experience.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23) Some news you receive may not please but curb your innate tendency to "explode" when annoyed. And DON'T vent your ill-humor on associates.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) Stars indicate a fine harvest from past endeavors. Reward may come in the form of a promotion — with increased prestige.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) Satisfactory gains indicated through carrying on with present operations, but day will not be good for starting new ventures.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22) You may encounter a few baffling situations. Remain undisturbed, neither over anxious nor careless. Avoid excesses and extremes.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21) An auspicious day. Seek solutions to pending problems through conferences, consultation with experts. Be concise and efficient without stepping on anyone's toes.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Mixed influences, mixed possibilities. How you react to opposition and unexpected obstacles will tell the tale.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Especially favored now: all creative efforts (writings especially), travel, meetings of purpose. Earnings can be increased through any of these avenues.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Stars now promise benefits from past efforts as well as surprising developments — and achievement — in recently stagnant areas.

Miss Tara Lynne Eissler Married To Mr. Dennison at Boonville, Ind.

Miss Tara Lynne Eissler and Edward William Dennison were married Friday, November 26, at 6:30 p. m. at the Hemenway Memorial Presbyterian Church.

They wore cream tulle gowns with hoods. Their hair garlands and nosegays were fashioned of apricot tea roses, cream miniature carnations, ivy, and velvet cord.

Eagles' Country Club, Evansville, Ind., following the wedding ceremony.

Attending the bride's table were Mrs. Roger Watson,

Mrs. Edward William Dennison

Boonville, Ind.

The ceremony was officiated by the Rev. William Gorton. Ivory candles lighted the altar which was decorated with large brass urns filled with ivory mums and brown frosted eucalyptus.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford R. Eissler of Boonville, Ind., and Mr. Dennison is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Dennison of Jackson, Tenn.

Bride's Dress

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of ivory tulle. Silk venise lace outlined the transparent yoke and sheer overlay on the sleeves. Her Madonna hood draped softly about the shoulders and released an attached wattleau train.

Following the ceremony the hood was detached and replaced with a hairpiece of ivory rosebuds, baby's breath, and ivy. Her matching bouquet was tied with ivory velvet cord. A pearl wedding ring belonging to her great grandmother, Mrs. E. A. Meyer, was Tara's only jewelry.

Mrs. James Todd Eissler, sister-in-law of the bride, was the matron of honor, and Miss Elizabeth Meyer Eissler, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor.

E. W. Dennison served as his son's best man, with Phillip Lee Dennison acting as groomsman.

Seating the guests were J. Michael Dennison, Jackson, Tenn., and Steven S. Dennison, Leawood, Kan.

Brothers of the groom, J. Todd Eissler, brother of the bride, and Edward Hunt of Murray, Miss Helen Louise Weyerbacher of Boonville, Ind., attended the guest register.

Buffet and Dance

The bride's parents hosted the family and wedding guests at a buffet and dance at the Louisville, Miss Suzanne Combs, Benton, Miss Charlotte Jean-Marie Baker, Greenville, Miss Cheryl DeArmond, Madisonville, Miss Melinda Hancock, Hopkinsville, and Miss Connie Hassinger, Fairfield, Ill.

Following their wedding trip to Florida, the new Mr. and Mrs. Dennison are residing in Murray where he is a partner in Dennison-Hunt Sporting Goods and she is a junior at Murray State University and an employee of the College Shop. Mr. Dennison received B. S. and M. A. degrees in education from Murray State.

Down the Garden Path

By MRS. W. P. WILLIAMS

Whenever we have a little respite in the cold, wet weather that comes so unexpectedly, it is a good time to check our gardens. Are they ready for winter? Can they take the harsh winds? Are the roots protected from severe cold. Are they well staked where they need it? Are they well mulched to keep them from heaving out of the ground? Have they been sufficiently pruned?

A little checking on these things may save some of your favorite plants. Some of the taller ones, especially ones that are not well established, will need to be staked. The gusty winds of January and February can wreak havoc with them. Branches can be snapped off ruining the symmetry of a shrub, if not destroying it. A strong stake, two of them, if it is a big shrub, tied with soft cloth or old stockings, will do the trick.

As for mulching, it is one of the best aids for winter. Our temperature in this area is so changeable that the ground can freeze one night and in a day or so the bright sun will warm things up so that the roots will heave up sideways out of the ground. Mulching will stop that and protect the roots at the same time. Remember, most anything will do, crushed oak leaves, compost, pine needles, commercial mulch. Now is the time to do it as the freezing weather has already started.

As for pruning, every good day is an invitation to go outside and see what is needed. I just got to my roses this week. I have only a few and have neglected to cut them back. But now they are in good shape. These are Floribundas so they can take severe pruning. I may go back and cut them a little more. They can be pruned to eighteen inches or less without hurting the plants. New branches will shoot up in the spring and the rose will be all the better for its disciplining. Just be sure you don't prune any spring flowering shrubs, for you will lose most of your blooms. The rule is to prune any plant just after it blooms.

Remember bird food. Get bird seed mix for the small birds and sunflower seed for the big ones. Have you ever watched a Grosbeak, or a Blue Jay crack open a sunflower seed to get the kernel? The only trouble is that the squirrels love them too and it takes a continual shooting to keep these rascals out of the feeder. But I don't really mind. Put your feeder where you can watch them.

HARRIGAN

TODAY'S TOPIC: HEMISPHERIC SECURITY

While President-elect Carter has indicated his intention to concentrate on domestic economic issues once he is in office, he will be unable to avoid certain pressing foreign policy problems. One of the foreign policy topics that will require his prompt attention is the future of the Panama Canal.

It is a virtual certainty that Gen. Torrijos, the Panamanian strongman, will begin to agitate for rapid transfer of the Canal Zone as soon as Mr. Carter is inaugurated. The Panamanians are concerned about Mr. Carter's strong statement during the presidential campaign, in which he vowed he would "never give up complete or practical control" of the vital waterway.

Hopefully, the next Secretary of State, Mr. Cyrus Vance, will take a much stronger position than Henry Kissinger. Dr. Kissinger initiated negotiations for a phaseout of America's control over the Panama Canal.

Messrs. Carter and Vance would do well to bear in mind the findings of the Inter-American Conference on Freedom and Security held in September, 1975. The proceedings of this conference were recently published by the Heritage Foundation in Washington (513 C St., N.E.).

Important basic points concerning the Panama Canal were developed at that conference. For example, U. S. Rep. Daniel J. Flood (D-Pa) noted that the United States bought and paid for the Panama Canal three times — paying the Colombians, the newly independent Panamanians, and all the owners of property in what is now the Canal Zone. Over the years, the United States has invested more than $7 billion in the Canal Zone — far more than it has expended on any other territory.

Sen. Strom Thurmond (R-S.C.), another participant in the conference, pointed out that the United States has been responsible for guaranteeing neutral transit across the Panamanian Isthmus since 1846, when it signed the Treaty of New Grenada. At that time, transit was provided by the Panama Railroad.

Sen. Thurmond also analyzed the sovereignty question in depth. "Full sovereign rights in perpetuity" were in fact what the Treaty of 1903 did include, and those rights are just as valid and as important today.

Sen. Thurmond delineated the meaning of sovereignty over the Canal Zone and warned that authority without sovereignty is meaningless, adding that sovereignty can't be shared. "In effect," he told the Inter-American Conference, "if Panama shares operational and defense authority with the United States, and the United States is subordinated to the supreme authority of Panama, then many world powers will seek to control Panama."

It is essential that these points be fully comprehended by American policy planners, and that the Carter administration be firm on the Panama Canal question. The Panama Canal is one of the few narrow waterways the control of which determine the control of the world's oceans.

Panama is ruled by a despotic regime that maintains warm relations with Communist Cuba. To allow a Panamanian junta to have any say whatsoever in Canal Zone operations is to jeopardize hemispheric security and normal maritime traffic.

The United States must not abrogate its position as a guardian of freedom in this hemisphere. The U. S. can legitimately claim ownership of the Panama Canal, and for the sake of the Western Hemisphere must not relinquish that claim.

Garrott's Galley Christmas Madrigal Dinner To Be Rare, Unique Event

By M. C. Garrott

Every now and then they come up with something real unique and unparalleled on the Murray State campus. One such event comes up this weekend. It will be the Christmas Madrigal Dinner being sponsored by the Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, the professional fraternity for students in music on the campus.

The dinner will be served on both Friday and Saturday nights at 7:30 o'clock in the old recital hall of the Fine Arts Annex.

This is the first time that a Madrigal Dinner has been served on the Murray State campus, although the event is becoming increasingly popular on other campuses across the country. It will be truly a "royal affair" amid a setting of the Renaissance period.

My reference books tell me that the Renaissance was the period of the transitional movement in Europe between medieval and modern times. It began in the 14th century in Italy, lasted into the 17th century and was marked by a humanistic revival of classical influence, expressed in a flowering of the arts and literature and by the beginning of modern science.

The dinner, we're told, will be "fit for a king and his lady."

There also will be a cast of eight Madrigalists who will sing songs of the period appropriate for the Christmas season. The dinner will be catered by the House of Grace from Paducah, and will include such delicacies as hot glazed hams, candied yams, homemade breads, green beans, assorted cheeses, wassail (a beverage of the period) and flaming plum pudding.

Promptly at 7:30 each evening, the trumpets will sound, heralding the closing of the doors and the beginning of the banquet.

The guests then will be taken on an imaginary journey into the 16th century where they will be greeted by the court jester, who will entertain them and inform them of the evening's activities. As each course of the meal is served, the Madrigal Singers will introduce it with an appropriate song such as "The Wassail Song" and the "Boar's Head Song."

All Madrigalists and the servers, as well as the jester, will be dressed in costumes of the Renaissance period. Guests are being asked to dress semi-formal.

The Christmas Madrigal Dinner, as I said, is a new event for the Murray State campus, just as the Hanging of The Green ceremony tomorrow night immediately following the Murray State-Troy State basketball game has become. The music folks hope to make it an annual highlight of the Christmas season on the campus, not only for the students, faculty and staff but for the entire Murray community. Proceeds

Max Jensen. Ben Bushnell.

If those two names mean nothing to you, it's not surprising. Both are now dead. Jensen died at the age of 24, Bushnell, 25.

In the grand scheme of things, their lives have somehow become unimportant.

The people of this country today know more about their murderer than they do about most U. S. Congressmen.

Gary Gilmore murdered them both. Bushnell and Jensen were both deeply religious men. Both had spent two years as Mormon missionaries.

Jensen, married and the father of a 7-month-old daughter, had completed one year of law school and was working as a service station attendant during the summer when he was murdered July 19.

The day before his death, he delivered the guest sermon at his church's Sunday services. Ironically, his topic was "honesty," and he related to the congregation the various ways people had tried to cheat him at the service station.

Bushnell, married and the father of a year-old son (his wife is expecting the birth of their second child in January), had to drop out of college because of a lack of funds.

He was determined to earn enough money to re-enroll as soon as possible and the break he had been looking for came when he and his wife were hired as resident managers of the City Center Motel in Provo, Utah. They could live in the motel rent-free and apply the salary toward getting Ben back in college.

On the second night of the new job, a quiet evening, Gary Gilmore walked in the front door. He demanded money, which Bushnell gave him, then ordered Bushnell to lie on the floor. Gilmore put a gun to Bushnell's head and fired.

Bushnell's wife, who was in an adjoining room, heard the noise and rushed into the office. Ben was already dead.

Because of Gilmore's claim that he wants to "die like a man," and because of the continuing court battles over his request for execution, the story of his life has been told endlessly in newspapers, in the national magazines, on tv networks and a movie biography is in the works.

Gary Gilmore of Utah's Death Row is a famous American cult figure now. We in the news business have taken care of that.

But Max Jensen and Ben Bushnell should also be remembered. Two young lives were snuffed out, two families just getting started in the world, were wrecked by a single individual who has admitted to the brutal murders.

As Daniel Webster said: "Every unpunished murder takes away something from the security of every man's life."

Economic Forecasters Do Have Blemishes

NEW YORK (AP) — Inundated now by the tidal torrent of economic forecasts that in this election year has surged especially strong, we can quite easily be blinded to some realities, among them:

—Economic forecasters are as human as weathermen. Relying upon the latter's advice you sometimes leave your umbrella at home and get caught in a downpour. On the economic front, it happened in 1974.

—Unlike the weatherman, the economic forecaster seldom affixes a probability percentage to his reports. Albert Cox, head of Merrill Lynch Economics does, but most of the big names prefer to be seen as prophets.

—The motto of forecasters, as expressed by Walter Heller, the former chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, and now an adviser to Jimmy Carter, is: "We are often wrong, but never in doubt."

—Nevertheless, forecasters have almost no control over events, such as wars, droughts and frost in the citrus belt, nor over the minds of those who influence events, such as George Meany, the consumer and Jimmy Carter.

—Economists are more than just inclined toward the belief that if you forecast, forecast often. They practice it. When a forecast is upset by events, another is issued. He with the latest forecast, forecasts best.

—Rarely do economic forecasters apologize. If events do not cooperate, they take great pains to explain to those not as perceptive as they that, for example, if only consumers had spent logically, the forecast would have been right.

—Forecasters often are vain and cocky, especially when they have behind them an econometric model of the economy, one of those statistical compilations that allegedly reduces the reliance on subjective opinions.

—Econometric models often are subjective. The numbers used are often processed first — adjusted, weighted and subjected to various other "corrective" formulas.

—Rather than being objective, some economists have vested interests in their forecasts, especially if they work for certain banks, retail establishments or government offices that consider it bad form to challenge the efforts of the marketing department.

—Forecasts tend to be somewhat alike, partly because economists often belong to schools of thought, partly because there is security in numbers. The most daring forecaster is the one who comes out a month ahead of the pack.

—The consensus forecast often is remarkably accurate on large categories, such as the Gross National Product, but it shouldn't be forgotten that the consensus includes many forecasts at the extremes of high and low.

—Like many stock market analysts, economists are strong in forecasting a continuation of existing conditions, but often are weak at calling the turns.

—Relying on no skill at all, it is safe to conclude that the best of forecasters have blemishes on their records.

Shoulder Bags Hazard To Cyclists

By F.J.L. Blasingame, M.D.

Shoulder bags, now very popular, can be hazardous to a bicycle rider.

Bicycles have grown in popularity and use in recent years. According to a Bulletin of the California Department of Transportation (July 1975), bicycle sales now exceed automobile sales in the United States.

This upsurge in the use of bicycles may be due to a number of reasons, such as more people using bikes for exercise, bicycles economy of transportation and a solution to parking and traffic congestion, and a growth in biking as a sport or outing.

With this growth in the use of bikes, related injuries have become increasingly common and significant. Because of bikes' slower speeds and because of poor visibility of many bikes and their riders, they may be struck by an automobile. In such accidents, the exposed bike rider gets the worst of the collision. Being thrown against the pavement is the major source of fractures and head injuries.

Writing recently in the Journal of the American Medical Association, David Furnas, M.D., called attention to the shoulder bag as an added source of sudden, severe injuries to bicyclists. He points out that the bag carried over one shoulder tends to slide down the arm as the cyclist leans forward to grasp the handlebar and pedal the bike.

The bag may swing forward in a pendulum-like motion toward the front wheel of the moving bike. The rotating spokes of the front wheel can catch the edge of the bag and entrap it between the spokes and the fork which extends down to the hub of the wheel. This entrapment can lock the front wheel suddenly and throw the rider over the handlebars to the ground.

Such an accident can be avoided by taking care to place the strap of the bag diagonally across the chest, the strap going over one shoulder with the bag on the opposite side of the body. In this position, the bag cannot slip down the arm and get caught in the front wheel of the bike.

Q. Ms. M.H. asks, "What is a thermogram of the breast?"
A. A thermogram of a breast is a reading of the heat that radiates from the skin over the breast. Cancerous cells are warmer than surrounding normal tissue, and the heat difference can be measured.

Authorities differ as to accuracy of this means of diagnosis. They agree that the heat readings have been disappointing as a dependable substitute for mammography. Women who have been screened with thermography should not assume that they have had an accurate, satisfactory breast examination.

The American College of Radiology and the American Thermographic Society recently issued a joint statement regarding thermography which said, in part, it is "a complimentary diagnostic tool that may be useful in the evaluation of breast disease when combined with both physical examination and mammography."

Q. Mr. R.C. would like to know the meaning of denturism, about which he has read considerably without understanding the issue.

A. Denturism is a growing movement among dental laboratory technicians to prepare false dentures and sell them directly to users, rather than to dentists who, in turn, fit the dentures to the patient.

Denturists claim that their direct service is less costly. The dentist claims that the denturist is inadequately trained to work with live patients. In all 50 states in America, the sale of dentures directly to patients is illegal, while sale by denturists is legal in about 20 foreign nations including much of Canada.

Another Ali-Foreman Bout May Be In Making

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
AP Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Don King, who promoted world heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali's first fight with George Foreman, says he's been offered a chance to handle a rematch.

King, in a telephone call from the Los Angeles office of attorney Norman Kaplan, told

The Associated Press Monday night that Herbert Muhammad, Ali's manager, had given King 90 days to raise the money for the fight.

Details were incomplete, and it was not known where or when such a fight would be held or how much money would be involved.

But Kaplan, who represents World Boxing Association President Dr. Elias Cordoba of Panama, said: "Ali told the doctor he is going to send him a telegram today (Monday) to confirm it."

King said he met with Cordoba Monday at Kaplan's office and also had talked with Ali by phone in Chicago.

"We got to get the money together, but he (Ali) has agreed to forego any other bouts and fight Foreman," King said.

Earlier, Ali had signed a contract with Madison Square Garden to fight challenger Duane Bobick, but Bobick finally signed to meet Ken Norton after Ali's on-again, off-again retirement fouled plans for the Ali-Bobick fight. Ali reportedly will return an advance on that contract.

It also had been reported that Ali would fight either Earnie Shavers, who stopped Roy Williams on national television Saturday, in March, or South African Mike Schutte. Ali said Friday in Louisville that he would fight Schutte.

However, King said that an Ali-Schutte fight, which had been in the works, now would be bypassed.

Kaplan, in a telephone interview, said there would be a joint announcement on Friday concerning the fight by Cordoba and Jose Sulaiman of Mexico, president of the World Boxing Council.

The WBC announced at its convention in Las Vegas Saturday that Ali could fight someone other than Foreman, as long as he fought Foreman by the end of May.

EASY ON HIM TOM—Tom Leffler (23) drew a foul on this Roosevelt player who probably got more damage out of the foul than did Leffler who gets in a good forearm. Under the bucket is former Murray High star Glenn Jackson (14).

When the weather turns cold and the shoulder pads and helmets are packed away in the equipment lockers there comes a great thumping sound on the land. This great thumping sound, along with the squeaking of sneakers and the frequent blowing of whistles will be heard in the land until it is almost time for the first of the spring flowers.

It's basketball time in western Kentucky when folks crowd in, wall to wall, to watch their beloved Lakers, Tigers, Marshals, Comets, Racers et al, play the game that revolves around the throwing of a rather large round ball through a hoop suspended off the floor. Each team has its own basket, separated by about 90 feet of floor, which they protect with the same fury displayed by a female wildcat defending her young.

Each team is allowed five players on the floor at a time and the idea is for the team that doesn't have the ball to fall back and defend its goal. The team that has the ball will try just about anything to penetrate the defense of the other team and get the ball in the basket. Sounds simple, doesn't it? It isn't, take our word for it.

It would seem that with each team allowed only five players, that the task of getting the ball in the basket would be easy. However, that is not the case because, by using different defensive set-ups, a team of five players actually looks, and works, like ten.

The same thing holds true for the team with the ball. On offense the team with the ball uses diversion, blocking (called a "pick") and other devices to confuse the enemy defense and get the round ball in the basket.

What we have then is ten players on a small floor, in close proximity to a large and usually enthusiastic crowd, even closer to a coach who is usually upset about something, two officials who are going to be the goats of the game no matter which team wins and at least one sports writer with pad and pen in one hand and camera in the other (who has been told that the secret to getting all the action down is to learn to write without looking at the paper) and a picture unfolds that most folks wouldn't paint themselves into for all the tea in China. Writers aren't that smart and frequently find themselves in situations like this.

"It's simple, all you have to do is wait for peak action and take the picture, you'll be able to see who made the shot through the viewfinder," we were told. But basketball moves a bit faster than we had expected and frequently we hope we got the right number. (We also found out, the other night, that the right number had better be on the score book when the game begins or the other team gets to shoot a technical shot. Another writer informed us that once a team that she covered got four technicals called on it for this reason.)

On the occasion of our first basketball game this year we got lost trying to find the school although we had been to the town before. We were late and almost missed the game, wrecked our car and got home about four o'clock in the morning. The most confusing part of that night's game was that we found out how fast basketball really moves, especially from the floor level.

Following that game we were introduced to another terrifying experience.

For the initiated, the basketball scorebook is a story in itself. We had seen one before but were really uninitiated as to what all the numbers and the little boxes meant, but we found out and saved our skin again.

Basketball means numbers and the numbers govern who remains in the game or gets to watch from the bench.

Another interesting observation involves the antics of the officials. Each one that we have seen this season has a different method of indicating the reason for a foul, and who it has been called on. The indicated basketball player has that "who me" look ready to be flashed toward the official and his accusing finger. The player then raises his hand, reluctantly, still holding the "who me" look, the foul is shot, and the game resumes.

The game of basketball, rather covering basketball, is beginning to win us over because we are looking at it through different eyes.

It is difficult to follow a team in any sport and not get caught up in what is happening to that team and its coaches.

We think that we have rather begun to enjoy our new experience following the various teams of the area to the small gyms in the far off towns.

The most profound aspect of basketball, as seen from our eyes, is the closeness of all concerned at a typical basketball game. It is not the same thing as being on the sidelines during a football game. There is a closeness involved in basketball that transcends anything we have yet experienced in sports.

In reality there is no contact between fan and player, but the players are not more than mere feet from the fan in the seat way up in the nickel seats.

With the patience of such people as Robert Stone, Clayton Hargrove, Cary Miller and their charges, maybe we will master this new game to the satisfaction of all concerned.

Road To Super Bowl Set To Begin Saturday

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

It is, in every sense of the word, the meeting of the irresistible force and the immovable object.

On this side, the Baltimore Colts, who pushed around almost everything in their path en route to the American Conference East title. They scored a mammoth 417 points, 58 of them last Sunday in the division clincher.

On the other side, the Pittsburgh Steelers, who can push back better than any other club in the National Football League, who reeled off nine straight victories — five by shutout. They allowed a minuscule 138 points including 28 in that astonishing streak to take the AFC Central title.

Something's got to give. The Colts, who gave the last time this situation arose, can look at the Steelers and say: "We know how you feel, guys."

A year ago it was the Colts who had just completed a nine-game streak. They roared into Pittsburgh and got beat 28-10 in an AFC playoff opener. Now it's the Steelers who have the nine-game run on the line, and they're the ones on the road for the opener.

"We've been in the playoffs for nine weeks," said Coach Chuck Noll, meaning that the Steelers were always on the brink of extinction. "It's that same kind of feeling. Now everyone has it."

Baltimore's Ted Marchibroda remembers what it was like last year. "That's why it's so unbelievable," he said of Pittsburgh's job. "The Steelers won six of those games with a rookie, Mike Kruczek, at quarterback, too. Sometimes you really don't know how good you are until you have to show it all."

The playoffs begin Saturday with Washington at Minnesota in the National Conference and New England at Oakland in the AFC. After Sunday's Oakland-Baltimore game, Los Angeles is at Dallas in a rematch of the 1975 NFC title game, won by Dallas 37-7.

Washington is returning to the playoffs after a one-year absence. The Patriots are in their first since 1963, when they were the Boston Patriots. They were a part of the American Football League and they were buried 51-10 by San Diego in the AFL title game.

Pac-Eight To Become 10-Member Conference

By WILLIAM SCHIFFMANN
Associated Press Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — There was joy in Arizona after the mighty Pacific-8 cordially invited the University of Arizona and Arizona State to join the prestigious athletic conference.

"We're naturally very delighted with the invitation," said Dr. John P. Schaefer, Arizona president. "I personally believe this offer is a major opportunity to the University of Arizona in terms of its athletic programs."

And at Arizona State: "Naturally we are very pleased," said school President John Schwada. "We feel we will be a valuable addition to that conference and we will give the invitation full consideration."

The invitations, relayed Monday by UCLA Chancellor Charles Young, were saddled with some conditions, but they appear reasonable. Young said the invitations would be open until May 1, 1977, the next scheduled conference meeting.

The move was expected for some time, although there was opposition from northern schools who apparently feared that if Arizona and California campuses teamed up, their six votes could shift the balance of power. The "Pac-10" will include, in addition to the Arizona schools, UCLA, Southern California, Stanford, California, Oregon, Oregon State, Washington and Washington State.

California's athletic director, Dave Maggard, said the invitations probably saved the conference.

"There might have been a breakup of the conference," he said after the decision was announced. "The threat of USC pulling out was very real, and UCLA might have followed suit."

Young would not speculate as to what had changed the minds of those schools in opposition. But he said they felt they had "reached the conclusion that, regardless of any reservations they might have, that in the long run the best interests of the institutions involved was to move to expand."

Young also conceded there was a possibility of legal action if the two schools defect from their current association with the Western Athletic Conference.

"Our understanding is that some or all of the members of the WAC conference ... take the position that conference approval of conference games constitutes a kind of contract," he said.

The two schools offer the Pac-8 a flourishing rivalry — and some powerful competition — in football, basketball and baseball.

In fact, Arizona, with a 7-0 record, is ranked eighth in the nation — ahead of perpetual powerhouse UCLA — in The Associated Press' latest major college basketball poll.

Neither team did well in football last season, with Arizona State 4-7 and Arizona 5-6. But in basketball, Arizona State was 16-11 and Arizona 24-9.

And both teams sparked in baseball, with Arizona State 57-8 and Arizona 44-16. Arizona upset Arizona State for the NCAA crown.

Cut Roster

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The New Orleans Jazz has cut its roster to 11 players by waiving rookie guard Andy Walker, who averaged 3.3 points per game in 10 contests this year.

Walker, who played college ball at Niagara, was activated in mid-November to replace the injured Gail Goodrich, who returned to the lineup four games ago.

The Jazz will be one player under the National Basketball Association limit of 12 until Wednesday.

Jarrett 11 Rebounds, Eight Blocked Shots

Racers Waltz To 102-50 Victory Over Roosevelt

By MIKE BRANDON

Ledger & Times Sports Editor
It's Christmas time again, as if you didn't already know since all the decorations are out and Santa has been making almost daily visits.

But if you didn't know, you could have learned it was Christmas time just by being in the Sports Arena at Murray State Monday night.

An impressive-sounding pep band playing "Silent Night" every time Roosevelt College got the ball. It was pretty much of a silent night for the team from Chicago as they were cremated 102-50 by the Racers.

But the most impressive song was Danny Jarrett's version of the "Twelve Days of Christmas."

Jarrett's version was a little different. It went something like 11 rebounds, eight blocked shots, seven points with a slam-dunk, three steals and a partridge in a pear tree. The tree couldn't have looked any larger than the 6-11 Jarrett did.

"When you get a guy who can move in and intimidate the other team on defense, he'll keep you from getting upset in our league," Racers Coach Fred Overton said of Jarrett.

SUPER GAME—Danny Jarrett (55) of the Racers had another super game Monday. He scored seven points, pulled down 11 rebounds and blocked eight shots in the Racers' win over Roosevelt. He is called for goal-tending on this shot by Craig Smith (30).

WADE FROM WAY OUT—Tommy Wade (14) of the Racers picks up two of his points here on this jumper over the outstretched arms of Bob Kobel (50) of Roosevelt. Wade hit 7-11 from the field in pumping in 14 points.

"This has been a 6-6 league and if a team gets a 6-10 or 6-11 guy, like Western when they had Jim McDaniels, then they can go out and play with anybody."

"I'm not saying Danny is in that category but he's agile and knows how to block shots. You can make errors in the perimeter (Murray did 23 turnovers) and he can cover them up for you."

"He's had an opportunity to play the last three games and he's really taken advantage of it. He was a tower of strength tonight," Overton added.

Overton said the good thing about Jarrett is that he is learning to play without getting in foul trouble.

"About four games ago, I thought he'd never be able to play more than 20 minutes in a game without fouling out. He was fouling everybody, he was even swatting cheerleaders," Overton grinned.

Overton said the game was a "good confidence builder."

If anything, it was that as everyone on the club got to see action and 13 players broke into the scoring column.

Grover Woolard, who had a fine night hitting from the outside, paced Murray with 20 points, leaving him only seven points shy of the 1100-career mark.

Mike Muff fired in 17 and left the game with about 11 minutes left and also got rested some in the first half too as Overton let his starters be fans for a while.

Tommy Wade, having one of his best games of his career, fired in 14 points. The junior veteran tossed in seven of 11 shots, all from the long range.

"I was more relaxed tonight than I have been all year," Wade said.

"But really, anybody would have hit those shots against their zone. I think if we can just keep playing pressure defense the way we did against Arkansas College Saturday, we're going to be a good club. We have just as good a chance of winning the OVC championship as anyone in our conference," the Hopkinsville native added.

Jimmy Warren, also playing a consistent game, added 10 points to become the fourth Racer in twin figures.

The Racers got off to an 8-0 lead and by halftime, held a big 50-16 lead.

Jarrett opened the second half with a slam dunk. Midway through the half, the Racers led 76-33.

The century mark was cracked with 2:40 left in the game when 6-2 John Hohman of Brookport, Ill., scored on a fastbreak layup.

Things will get a bit tougher for the Racers Wednesday as Troy State comes in for a visit.

Tennessee Tech Falls To Valdosta State

COOKEVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Valdosta State rebounded from a 42-33 halftime deficit to defeat Tennessee Tech 89-80 in a college basketball game here Monday night.

The Blazers were led by Norman Caldwell who scored 27 points.

Valdosta outscored Tennessee Tech 13-4 in the opening minutes of the second half to tie the game 46-46 with 15:30 remaining.

The Blazers pulled to a 10 point lead, 83-73, with 2:30 remaining to seal the victory.

Bob Porter was top scorer for Tennessee Tech with 22 points, while teammate John Adams led all rebounders with 19.

Valdosta is now 5-1 while Tennessee Tech drops to 2-2.

the hot second half shooting of Lewis Mack, will be as tough as Butler, according to scouting reports.

Troy State lost by seven at Georgia and lost by only four at Morehead. However, John Randall and Donnel Wilson are expected to be ready to be back in action again for the Racers.

"Livingston State (Saturday's opponent) is also going to be tough. I've heard they are better than Troy State," Overton said.

"Games against people like Kansas, New Orleans and Las Vegas are recruiting tools. Then you get teams in here like Roosevelt and hopefully, you are able to get a chance to look at some of the young folks," Overton added.

The win leaves Murray with a 5-2 record for the season.

Also Wednesday night, the Murray State women will be playing Louisville at 5:15 p.m. Saturday night, there will be a junior varsity game which will begin at 5:15 p.m.

Standing On The Firing Line

Several Key Games In Area Tonight

The basketball predictions for this past weekend produced an 8-1 record with the only miss being Heath's win at Fulton City.

For the season, the record stands at 26-9 for an accuracy mark of .743 which isn't bad for this early in the year.

Tonight will feature several tough games to pick. Among those are Murray at Symsonia, Mayfield at Marshall County, Trigg County and Calloway County, Tilghman at Ballard Memorial and Carlisle County at Heath. Of course, the games involving two weak teams are always the toughest to pick.

Perhaps the main attraction tonight in the Region will be the Tiger game at Symsonia. The Rough Riders were ripped 89-73 by a tough Lowes club Friday night at Lowes.

Symsonia may have guard Robert McManus back in action against the Tigers, who incidentally are ranked 13th in the state this week in the Lit-Ratings, which I put no confidence in whatsoever.

Here's the outlook for tonight:

MURRAY HIGH at Symsonia by 16—My luck will have to run out tonight. The last two picks on the Tigers have been exactly correct so I don't think three in a row is possible.

They key will be the Tiger press. If the Rough Riders can't handle the press, and they couldn't last year, then look for the Tigers to blow out the Rough Riders before a packed house.

If Symsonia slows the ball down, then look for the foul situation to make a difference in the game. Tim Allred and James Whittemore are both tough players. Both shoot well and Whittemore is an exceptional leaper.

If the Rough Riders control the tempo of the game, the Tigers could be in trouble. However, I expect the Tigers will be able to cause Symsonia problems with the press. It may be close for two quarters and if it is, then look for Murray to pull away in the middle of the third period.

Symsonia can't beat the Tigers. But Murray could beat themselves.

Trigg County at CALLOWAY COUNTY by four — I shouldn't do it but I'm going to. Calloway County will have to block out on the boards. To do so, the Lakers will probably come out in a zone defense. They can not let the Wildcats get open inside or it could be over early.

Trigg is not that tough but they are a fairly big club and are quite physical. The Lakers badly need a win to be even going into their Friday contest in their own tournament with Hickman County.

The key: teamwork. If the Lakers play as a team and go on the floor with a positive attitude, they can and will win.

Fulton City at FULTON COUNTY — This is one game I wouldn't want to see. The gym will be packed for this rivalry which should see the Pilots coming out on top by a margin of at least 12 points.

TILGHMAN at Ballard by four — Again, a tough one. Ballard is tough at home. Both teams are fairly physical and both teams like to run. Look for a scoring duel between Delbert ShumPERT of Tilghman and Brad Mills of Ballard. The key: whether Tilghman can control the boards and handle the press Ballard will throw at them. Tilghman nearly blew it Friday when Hickman County threw on a press. Tilghman had to settle for a three-point win, at home.

Brookport at LONE OAK—Southern Illinois has some strong teams this year. However, Brookport is not one of them. Lone Oak is rated first in our Region and 12th in the state. Look for the Purple Flash to win by over 20.

Mayfield at MARSHALL COUNTY — Rick Leeper is 3-0 in his first season with the Marshals. Tonight, he moves into the "big-time."

The Marshals will match up well in size, though they do not have anyone as tall as 6-7½ David Youngblood, who blew a dunk shot somehow at Calloway Friday.

At this stage, the Marshals are a better team. I'll take Marshall County by nine.

CARLISLE COUNTY at Heath by two—Why? I don't know. Heath rarely loses at home but Carlisle got murdered Saturday at Warren Central and needs to win this one to have some momentum going into Thursday's matchup with Murray High in the Laker Invitational.

Facey Farm at WINGO—The Indians are a bit stronger plus they are at home. Wingo by 11.

LOWES at Cuba by 29 — Need we say more?

Because of the hectic schedule this week and the amount of space available, I probably will not have room for a column with predictions on the Laker Invitational.

For Thursday: Look for the Tiger boys to again win over Carlisle County. As for the girls' game, it's a tossup but I'll give the Comets a slim edge. For Friday, the boys' contest between the Lakers and Hickman County is a tossup but I'll go with the Falcons because they have revenge on their minds and are beginning to play better ball. In the girls' game, I'll pick the Calloway girls to beat the Falcons.

For Saturday: Look for the Murray High boys to win the title, although it could be close. In the girls' game, Carlisle County should win over the Laker girls by a close margin.

Michigan Retains Top Spot, 'Cats To Third

By The Associated Press

It hasn't taken the Notre Dame basketball team long to establish itself as this year's collegiate giant-killers.

The Fighting Irish set about correcting their early-season non-ranking in this year's first game and they edged out highly-regarded Maryland on the Terrapins court. That earned Digger Phelps' crew a No. 7 ranking in the Associated Press nationwide poll of sports writers and broadcasters. Then the Irish really went to work.

Last Saturday, Notre Dame upset UCLA 66-63 at Pauley Pavilion. That victory earned the 5-0 Irish five first-place votes, 601 points and a No. 4 ranking in this week's poll. The Bruins fell from third to ninth place.

Leading the voting for the third straight week was Michigan. The Wolverines, 3-0, collected 34 first-place votes and 850 points. Michigan beat Vanderbilt 97-76 in its only action last week.

Marquette was second in the balloting, 122 points behind Michigan. The Warriors grabbed a pair of first-place votes for their 4-0 record which includes three victories last week.

Kentucky, 4-0 through Sunday's games, moved up a notch to third. The Wildcats received four No. 1 ballots and 662 points.

San Francisco, whose 8-0 record is the best of any Top 20 team, captured fifth place in the poll with 473 points. The Dons won the Utah Classic over the weekend.

Completing the Top 10 were No. 6 Cincinnati, with a 5-0 record; seventh-ranked Alabama, which advanced three spots despite not playing a game; 7-0 Arizona, which grabbed eighth place, and 10th-ranked Wake Forest.

Wake Forest's Atlantic Coast rival, North Carolina, was voted No. 11 in the nation. The Tar Heels were followed in the voting by Nevada-Las Vegas, which dropped a 100-96 contest to Utah and subsequently fell from fifth to 12th; No. 13 Clemson; 14th-rated Maryland and surprising Syracuse, which came in 15th.

Givens Scores 26, Phillips 23 As Wildcats Murder South Carolina

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
AP Sports Writer

The losing coach, who should have been shellshocked, kind of expected his team to get blown out Monday night. It was the winning coach who was surprised.

"We're better than I thought. I've underestimated them and they've given me a pleasant surprise," Kentucky's Joe Hall said after his third-ranked Wildcats buried South Carolina 98-67.

"I have felt all along Kentucky will be ranked No. 1 before the season is over. They certainly looked the part tonight," said South Carolina's Frank McGuire, who isn't used to being treated so badly, and certainly not on his home court.

The only other member of The Associated Press' Top Twenty to see action was No. 15 Syracuse, which trounced Penn State 101-63 behind little Jimmy Williams' 20 points.

Kentucky, 5-0, jumped to a 10-0 lead and South Carolina was never able to recover. At the half it was 52-34 and at one point in the second half the Wildcats led by a whopping 35 points. Jack Givens paced Kentucky with 28 points and Mike Phillips added 23.

"This group of juniors has been playing together for the third year now and they've matured," Hall said. "We've been dominating some very good teams."

Jackie Gilloon topped 1-3 South Carolina with 17 points and freshman center Jim Graziano had 16.

The victory extended Kentucky's winning streak to 15, longest of any major college in the nation. The loss was the worst for the Gamecocks on their home court since they moved into the Carolina Coliseum eight years ago. The greatest margin of defeat previously was seven points.

Williams enabled 7-1 Syracuse to pull away from Penn State with an eight-point burst midway through the first half.

Elsewhere: —Army boosted its record to 6-0, its best start in eight years, by routing Kings Point 76-52.

—Unbeaten Dayton placed four men in double figures and turned back New Orleans 82-68.

—Wichita State held off Long Beach State 83-78 behind Bob Elmore's 22 points.

—Freshman Dean Uthoff, scored 22 points and grabbed 19 rebounds as Iowa State downed California 78-70.

Eddyville Guard Shot In Escape

EDDYVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A guard at the Kentucky State Penitentiary has been hospitalized after he was allegedly shot by an inmate who unsuccessfully attempted to escape.

The guard, William Valentine, was shot in the stomach Monday. He was reported in good condition.

Prison Supt. Don Bordenkircher said that Don Tate, 44, was apprehended in a wooded area in Hopkins County, approximately 25 miles from here.

The superintendent said Valentine and another correctional officer, George Newton, were taking Tate and two other prisoners to a Princeton hospital for a series of x-rays.

As Newton was accompanying one prisoner to the restroom, Tate was able to obtain Valentine's revolver and then threatened to begin "shooting people in the hospital," the superintendent said.

He said the officers persuaded Tate to take them as hostages and they left in the state-owned car.

Several miles later, Tate ordered the hostages from the vehicle and was preparing to handcuff them to a tree when a scuffle ensued. Valentine was shot in the stomach and Tate drove off.

He wrecked the vehicle and headed for a wooded area, where he was spotted by a contingent of state and Hopkins County police.

Mrs. Mary Peters, 56, said the two guards came to her home for help after the shooting.

"At first I thought they might be escaped convicts because they were handcuffed together," she said. "But they showed me their identification and told me what had happened, so I called an ambulance."

Mrs. Peters said the two guards walked about one-eighth of a mile before reaching her house. "Mr. Valentine was holding his left side, and was sort of white, but seemed to be in pretty good shape."

Tate was serving a life term for armed robbery in Jefferson County at the time of his escape.

Congestion On Ohio Expected

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP) — Critical congestion, usually not experienced at this time of the year, is going to clog lower Ohio River traffic, according to the Army Corps of Engineers.

John T. Mitchell, chief of reservoir control for the Ohio River Division of the Corps' Cincinnati office, says shallow water threatens to cause massive jams on the lower Ohio.

Mitchell says wicket-type dams that have been lowered recently to permit traffic to sweep over them soon will be upright again.

Mitchell says that acute towboat congestion is expected at three of the dams that have only single, 600-foot locks. They are locks No. 50 at Marion, No. 51 at Golconda, Ill., and No. 53 at Mound City.

Parents Press For Better School Buses

MAYFIELD, Ky. (AP) — An organization of parents has formed in Graves County to press for enforcement of school bus regulations.

At a meeting Monday night, Concerned Parents was organized and Robert Ridgway, the group's president, says he will personally take the issue before the Kentucky Department of Education.

According to a report by the group, Graves County has 70 school buses and three-fourths of them are more than eight years old. The report also said that 10 drivers are older than 65 and that other drivers are young and inexperienced.

New Study Blames Breach Of Procedure In Prison Escapes

LUCASVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Security procedures followed by guards were breached in two of three escape attempts in November at the Southern Ohio Correctional Facility, a study released Monday says.

Three officers at the maximum-security prison were reprimanded for the violations. However, two of them also received commendations for actions later preventing an actual escape.

The report was ordered prepared by officials of the Department of Rehabilitation and Correction on Nov. 22 after the escape attempts. In one, two inmates climbed over the prison fence. Another time, nine inmates were being transported to a Columbus medical facility when two pistols were pulled, and in the third attempt, two inmates escaped through cell windows. None of the attempts were successful.

George F. Denton, department director, said an investigation is continuing by prison officials and the Highway Patrol to determine how convicted murderer Donald B. Nickerson obtained two .22 caliber pistols pulled in a van headed for a prison hospital and used in an abortive escape attempt near Waverly on Nov. 19.

"The preliminary results of the investigation indicate Nickerson was the only inmate in possession of the weapons during the escape attempt, and carried them on board the van by concealing them on his person," Denton said.

He said it was believed that Nickerson carried a homemade key in one of his shoes and used it to unlock his handcuffs during the trip.

Two correction officers were found to have failed to conduct thorough searches of the prisoners before leaving the prison, Denton said. "In an effort to reach the medical facility by 9 a.m., the van left the Lucasville prison before daylight, adding to security problems," he said. The two officers later received commendations for halting the escape.

A third officer was reprimanded for failing to observe inmates tampering with a cell window that led to an escape attempt by two inmates on Nov. 20.

The security evaluation found no personnel at fault in the escape attempt by two inmates over a fence on Nov. 10.

The report recommended the purchase of 20,000 feet of coiled, barbed wire to be placed in the 20-foot area between two security fences around the prison; buy 31 high-powered floodlights; raise the height of one guard tower; and buy siren-type alarms to improve the prison's system of warning community residents of an escape.

Also, the report suggested that some prison procedures be changed, including the elimination of transportation of inmates from the prison to other locations during darkness; transported inmates undergo complete strip searches; cell block windows, doors and locking mechanisms be checked each shift, and establish a team to conduct weekly inspections of windows, doors and locking mechanisms throughout the prison.

Grand Jury Calls For Jail Improvement At Franklin County

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — A Franklin County grand jury says it has found "very little good" about the county jail and has recommended that it be remodeled.

The panel also recommended that another full-time jailer be hired by Jan. 1.

The jail, which has an average daily population of 30 to 35 inmates, should have an air ventilation system, new mattresses, a modern kitchen and an outdoor exercise area, the grand jury said.

According to the panel, Franklin County's juvenile detention center is not "fit for human habitation." The grand jury noted, however, that a new juvenile center will be operated at the former state Diagnostic and Evaluation Center.

Santa and the Giant Fighter

By Lucrece Beale

Synopsis: Santa and Billy get the ghost's tears that can turn most giants into pigs. Then Santa leaves Billy at the cave where the moon is hidden.

CHAPTER TEN GOKO THE GIANT

Goko the giant was the bulkiest, bulkiest, heftiest giant in the world. He was larger than three elephants. His legs were huge as tree trunks and his arms as wide as storm water pipes. He was a prodigious, stupendous, monumental colossus of a giant.

Except for his head. It was the size of a very large cantaloupe. And the brains in his head were as mushy as the seeds in the melon.

Goko lived in a towering castle on a sky-touched mountain. His brothers and cousins and nephews lived with him. Compared to Goko they were peewee giants. Goko was their master and they were his slaves.

Goko had a terrific temper. Day and night he thundered through the castle whopping and whacking and thumping and lalloping the other giants. But it was not enough for him to be king of the giants. He wanted to be King of Fairyland and Santa Land and the ruler of all Little Folk everywhere.

He ordered his giants to capture the Fairy Queen. They caught her as she was travelling through the forest one evening on her way to a butterfly ball. They brought her to the castle and Goko asked her to be his bride.

Naturally the Fairy Queen

"You look fierce enough," Goko told the dragon.

refused. Goko locked her in a chamber. He swore he would marry her anyway on Christmas Day. Then he would be King of the Fairies whether she wished it or not.

The Queen used all her magic but could not free herself. She wept and begged to be set free. Goko only laughed. He bellowed that she should get accustomed to her bonds because she would be his prisoner even after she became his bride.

The Queen cried, "My magic may have failed but a real live boy will free me and you shall die by the light of the moon!"

Goko threw back his head and roared with laughter. All the same he was worried.

He ordered his slaves to capture the moon. That night the giants went to the edge of the Western Sea. When the moon set they caught it in a net and put it in a box and carried it back to Goko.

The big giant sealed the box so no one could open it. Then he carried it to a mammoth cave three miles beneath the ground. But still he wasn't satisfied. He went to the swamps where dragons were known to have their nests.

He walked through the oozy, squelchy quagmire until he came upon a monstrous dragon rising out of the plashy marsh. The creature was almost as long as Goko was tall. His tail was sharp as a fish knife. His eyes glittered. Smoke drifted from his nostrils.

The giant told him he wanted dragons to guard the moon cave. The monster said, unfortunately, he was the only dragon around. All the others had gone off to live in zoos where the food was good and living conditions reliable.

"You look fierce enough," growled Goko. "You alone must guard the cave."

No one before had told the dragon he was fierce looking. The truth was he would like to have gone to live in a zoo, too, but no zoo wanted him because he had never learned to breathe fire. Furthermore, his tail moved up and down like a puppy dog's instead of back and forth as a proper dragon's should.

The dragon did not like the giant and he did not want to help him. But he was afraid to refuse. Besides, he was very tired of the squishy, squashy bog where he lived. He really would like to have a change.

Goko led the dragon to the cave and showed him the box he must guard. Then the giant returned to his castle and boasted to the Fairy Queen.

"Nothing can harm me now for the moon will never shine again."

Carroll Adds Subjects To Agenda Of Session

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—Gov. Julian Carroll has added five additional subjects to his call for a special session of the General Assembly, a move that left several observers wondering whether they could complete the job before Christmas.

As the second week of the special session ended, the leadership of both houses was optimistic that the lawmakers could wrap up their work by the end of this week and be home for Christmas week.

But the last-minute inclusion of five subjects has thrown a shadow of doubt over when the session might end.

The subjects added to the call Monday by the governor are:

- Creation of a revolving loan fund for mass transit in northern Kentucky. A bill introduced by Rep. William Donnerneyer, D-Bellevue, would authorize $500,000 for each of the next two fiscal years to assist the Transit Authority of Northern Kentucky (TANK).
- Repeal of the state police's authority to require motorists to submit to re-examination for drivers' licenses.
- To allow the trade-in value of an automobile to be used in figuring the retail price of a car for tax purposes. The bill would be subject to enactment by Congress of a reduction in the motor fuels tax or increased federal tax credits on motor fuels.
- That a maximum of two per cent of the Special Fund be paid to insurance companies for administering payments to the Special Fund. Workmen's Compensation benefits are paid from that fund.
- That a courthouse district tax be permitted to continue in counties containing cities of the second class which had the tax at the time of enactment of the law.

Sylvia Whitlow To Continue Quest To Keep Maiden Name

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Ms. Sylvia Whitlow says she will continue her "quest for justice" to keep her maiden name, despite a U.S. Supreme Court action which leaves the issue up to individual states.

The court Monday refused to consider whether a state, in this case Kentucky, can require a married woman to use her husband's surname in obtaining a driver's license.

For more than three years, Ms. Whitlow, who prefers that designation, has not been driving while she fought for the right to use her maiden name.

"It would have been nice to be able to drive and it's awfully tiring being dependent on other people," she said.

Married in 1973 to Norman Van Turbergen, Ms. Whitlow went to court when the state refused to issue her a driver's license under her maiden name.

The Kentucky General Assembly approved a measure the next year that allows a married woman to use her maiden name — but a court ruling is necessary.

And Ms. Whitlow says she doesn't want to do that way.

"I find it very objectionable that the state makes an assumption about me that it doesn't make about my husband," she said. "That is, to me, a denial of respect and rights under the law."

Both she and her husband feel that common law presumes that a woman takes the name of her husband. That is discrimination, since no such assumption is made of men, they say.

"When the day arises that the state makes assumptions about my husband or any other married man and they have to approach the courts to request something they didn't ask for in the first place, then I would not feel put upon," Ms. Whitlow said.

"Now, members of my sex have to do that," she added.

Van Turbergen, who, like his wife, teaches at the University of Kentucky, agrees.

"Basically, I think someone ought to be able to be called whatever they choose to be called in terms of a name," he said.

The Supreme Court's refusal to consider the case, because of the apparent lack of a constitutional issue, let stand a 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruling that Kentucky was correct in denying Ms. Whitlow a driver's license unless she use her husband's surname.

The appellate court based its 2-1 decision on a 1972 Supreme Court ruling which upheld a similar law in Alabama, allowing "administrative convenience" on the part of the state.

In its arguments, the state of Kentucky contended that the law was not "a classification based on sex, but rather a classification based on marital status with sex being merely a sub-classification of that larger class."

Amy Elizabeth Clark of Paris, Tenn., a music education and voice major at Murray State University, will present her senior recital on the campus Sunday afternoon, Dec. 19.

Scheduled at 2 p. m. in the Farrell Recital Hall of the Price Doyle Fine Arts Center, the program will include selections for the soprano by Handel, Schumann, Gretchaninoff, Rachmaninoff, and Moussorgsky.

Miss Clark, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth C. Clark of Paris and Virgil B. Clark of Paris, is a member of the Alpha Delta Pi social sorority and the Gamma Beta Phi Honorary Society.

The recital is in partial fulfillment of the requirements for the Bachelor of Music Education degree.

Students And Teachers Return To Jefferson Co. Classrooms Today

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — For the first time since Nov. 23, over 100,000 children and thousands of teachers were expected back in Jefferson County classrooms today, two weeks after a teachers strike shut down the nation's 18th largest school system.

Plagued over the last two years by a controversial courtordered desegregation plan and this year by an ongoing financial crisis, the school system readied itself to receive 118,000 children who have not had classes since the Tuesday before Thanksgiving.

Some school officials and antibusing leaders had speculated that the cost of the busing program was at least partially responsible for the system's financial troubles and indirectly responsible for the school board's unwillingness to meet teacher demands.

The strike, which began Nov. 30, ended Monday morning when the Board of Education and the 4,500-member Jefferson County Teachers Association (JCTA) reached agreement on a new three-year contract.

The agreement followed U.S. District Judge Charles Allen's order approving the release of about $3.3 million in state transportation funds to the school system.

Gov. Julian Carroll announced Sunday that he would "direct the appropriate state officials to process for payment of the money" involved — about $1.7 million of which was considered crucial to the settlement.

Judge Allen's order was the last legal step toward release of the funds.

Later in the day, thousands of teachers approved the settlement by an almost unanimous voice vote, and the school board, minutes later, followed suit. One of the 11 board members dissented.

"We do have a victory," JCTA President June Lee told about 4,000 cheering teachers in a crowded college gymnasium. "This is indeed your finest hour."

Mrs. Lee added that she thought the county's 5,860 teachers now have the best contract of any of their counterparts in the southeastern United States and that, because of their newly-won benefits, they would be more effective in the classroom.

David Vogel, a spokesman for the school system, said board attorneys will be in Jefferson Circuit Court today to ask for dismissal of two actions the board had initiated against the teachers, including a request for an injunction ordering teachers back to work.

The board also agreed that there would be no reprisals against strike leaders, Vogel said.

"The board is interested in patching up the wounds of this strike and getting back to the business of teaching and restoring a harmonious school system."

Vogel said agreement was reached in the early morning on the two last unresolved issues — salaries and binding arbitration for grievances.

Under the terms of the new contract, the teachers will receive average salary increases of 8.6 per cent.

The average yearly salary will increase from $11,643 to $12,936, while starting teachers with bachelor's degrees will earn $9,100, compared with just over $8,300 under the old contract.

Despite "serious reservations" by some members, Vogel said, the board also went along with a form of arbitration for grievances.

After the agreement was reached, the board announced that four of the 10 days that were missed because of the strike will be made up next week, which was to have been the first week of Christmas vacation. Other days will be made up in March and June.

Those officers attending the meeting were: Yvonna Pritchett, Thomas Jones, Gena Kirk, Bonnie Garner, Kim Marrs, Micah Edwards, Eddie Travis, Brad Bryan, Carla Beach, Dawn Roesch, Tracy Beach, Tad Dowdy, Phillip Orr, Karen Dowdy, Hope Morgan, Michelle Marine, Terry McDougal, Kelly Crouse, Penny Lockhart, Jo Beth Norwood, and Susan Snyder.

State's Electoral Votes Cast

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky's nine electoral votes, cast unanimously in favor of President-elect Jimmy Carter and Vice President-elect Walter Mondale, are on their way to the president of the U.S. Senate to make the vote official.

The nine electors cast their votes Monday, reflecting the popular vote of 615,717 cast for Carter on Nov. 2.

Then, the electoral votes were sealed and forwarded to Congress along with votes from electors meeting in all the other states. The results will be official Jan. 6, when the electoral votes are read at a joint session of Congress.

Gov. Julian Carroll, in a brief speech during the ceremony in the state Senate chamber, said the Kentucky electors' efforts are historic "in that they are set in this bicentennial year, and are the truest representation of grassroots involvement in the electoral process."

However, Carroll also said that, in general, the electoral process appears "outmoded by time and the needs of the Democratic party."

He said later that he would support a constitutional amendment changing the system to one based on popular vote.

Kentucky's electors, who are the only persons in the state allowed to vote twice, are: Walker Cunningham of Louisville; David Broderick, Bowling Green; Gwen Dingus, Prestonsburg; Peggy Rice, Richmond; Steve Wilborn, Shelbyville; Ernestine Roach, Louisville; Eddie Ballard, Madisonville; Gilbert Miller, Richmond and Paul Patton, Virgie.

Volume Up On Burley Market

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The latest trading on Kentucky burley markets has seen an 8 million pound increase in volume, although prices rose by a much more modest average of three cents per hundredweight.

Farmers apparently took advantage of the weekend's humid weather to return to the stripping rooms and get their leaf to market before the holiday break. There will be no sales between Dec. 17 and Jan. 3 on Kentucky burley markets.

A total of 23.4 million pounds of tobacco was sold for $27.1 million dollars Monday, an average of $115.77 per hundredweight. The season's price average is $116.74.

The highest price came at the Carrollton market, where 1,778,670 pounds were sold for an average of $118.66 per hundredweight, while the lowest average price was recorded in Paducah, where 411,637 pounds sold for an average of $112.85.

At Lexington, the state's largest market, 3,070,040 pounds were sold for an average of $116.41 per hundredweight.

At other large markets, 1,644,758 pounds of burley were sold at Maysville for an average price of $115.25 per hundredweight; 1,274,043 pounds were sold at Glasgow for an average of $116.38 per hundredweight; 1,237,608 pounds were sold at Horse Cave for an average of $116.78; and at Shelbyville, 1,279,122 pounds were sold for an average of $116.38 per hundredweight.

So far this season, 232.3 million pounds of burley have been sold on Kentucky markets for $27.1 million.

Donnie Hudson Has Art Work Display At Local Library

Donnie Hudson of Dexter has a display of his art work at the Calloway County Public Library during the month of December.

The artist is a member of the Murray Art Guild, and has been painting for seven or eight years. His works include landscapes and still-lives, and are done in acrylics. The originals shown at the library are not for sale. Hudson has released an owl print which is for sale at this time.

"The public is invited to come by and see this exhibit anytime during library hours," a library spokesman said.
